

DEFENSIVE ALPHA EQUITY STRATEGY

OBJECTIVES*

Our primary objective is to participate in market gains, but to decrease the impact of market drawdowns. Our strategy attempts to exit into defensive stocks during the preliminary phase of market declines, before large losses are realized. When markets are rising, assets are fully invested in growth oriented global equities, attempting to track market indices and achieve strong up capture. During significant long-term declines, Toews attempts to lower drawdowns by taking a defensive position in the underlying stocks included in the S&P 500 Low Volatility Index.

DYNAMIC HEDGING STRATEGY

Graph is hypothetical for illustrative purposes only, and does not represent actual trades. There is no guarantee that any investment will achieve its objectives, generate positive returns, or avoid losses.

APPROACH

Historically, equity investments have offered investors the best opportunity to achieve long-term portfolio growth. However, they carry significant risk and are vulnerable to debilitating portfolio losses when exogenous shocks to the market occur. Toews' goal is to help protect core assets from extreme losses without sacrificing participation in rising markets investors rely on to achieve long-term, above- inflation growth.

By exiting growth stocks into defensive equities when prices decline, we aim to produce outperformance with less risk and diminished whipsaw risk.

DISCLOSURE

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. All investments involve risk, including the potential loss of principal invested. The use of Toews does not eliminate risks associated with investing. Consider the investment objectives, risks, charges, and expenses carefully before investing. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate. The investor's account may be worth less than the original investment when liquidated. The returns were obtained in an unusual market which may not occur again.

There can be no assurance that Toews will achieve its performance objectives.
